In a copy of the old Portland Transcript of January 23, 1890, may be seen a communication headed "After Forty Years," without the name of the contributor in which appears a to Dr. Nathaniel T. True, long the principal of Gould's Academy. It is numbered "VI" showing it is one of a series, and the part I propose to use begins by describing the country lying between the Saco and the Androscoggin rivers. "Here," the writer states, "is a region unsurpassed in quiet loveliness, whose people are approachable and condescending, ever ready to give you a cordial greeting, and return you a civil answer to many a question, which in some regions might be thought impertinent. From Portland to the head waters of this pleasant valley in Stoneham and Albany, may be some seventy miles more or less, not a mile of which will fall to present some object of interest.

DESERVING TRIBUTE.

"The upper portion of this section of country was almost unoccupied forty years ago, many of the first settlers being led hither by the fine oak timber for which it was then famous, and it would seem by the cooper shops that there is no failure in that line yet. But to the rude dwellings of those days amid the forests have succeeded fine and well cultivated farms, with substantial and commodious buildings. At North Waterford, in those days, there were but few houses, and one would not think of carrying more than a night; but the village now extends for nearly a mile with two public houses, several stores, and a fine church building. From there our journey took us through Albany and Bethel, a region entirely new to us except by reputation. We proposed to visit Bethel Hill, famous for 'Gould's Academy,' and its illustrious men, but best known to us through Dr. N. T. True, whose real desire there and services for the institution has left an impression not only on the State, but one which is and will be felt in the councils of the Nation. Not long before he 'departed,' we had the pleasure of a letter from him describing a reception which his former pupils had just given him in his good old age. Did they ever realize what pleasure it gave him to relate to a co-worker the events of that anniversary? Good and faithful laborer, he has gone to his reward. We wished to see whether his last resting place was to keeping with the work he had accomplished, and whether a suitable tribute to his memory could be found. What could be more appropriate than that the loving hands of the hundreds whom he had soothed for hours and days should have hope it has been done. But it was not our privilege to visit the spot.

"We were directed at Centre Albany to West Bethel where we reached the ever beautiful Androscoggin, narrowed here and with more contracted intervals than in its lower course, but the same rapid water, and gently flowing stream. The ride from Bethel to Gorham is one scene of grandeur and beauty, divided into even stages by these 'mountain' growing villages; the 'golden-brown' tall trees, six miles to Oxford, six miles to Bethel and six miles to Gorham. Excellent stopping places all. At Bethel we were shown out at the edge of the village the fine residence and splendid grounds of Judge Ashton, of New York, who has appropriated more than a mile along the road and river, of New Hampshire's 'deserted farm lands' by city improvements and gardens. Here he spends his summers and builds his wealth. Two miles further on, Mr. H. H. H. of Detroit, is spending perhaps as much money on golf as he does on a state, with possibly a little less show. This all means taxable property, and becomes a great stimulus to the next generation in state and nation of farming on a smaller scale. Perhaps in some of this New England will be in some measure compensated for the heavy taxes that have been made upon her but blood the last half century for

"THE VILLAGE SCHOOLMA'AM,"

Presented at So. Paris Thursday and Friday Evenings.

The Village Schoolma'am, a drama in three acts, was presented under the auspices of the Delta Alpha of South Paris, Thursday and Friday evenings, and was much enjoyed by all those present. The leading character in the play is Miss Sylvia Lennox, the village school teacher, who is well liked by all save the gossip. This part was well taken by Miss Grace Dudley. The storekeeper and post master Richard Elliot was represented by Ralph Edwards. Harry Shaw, Eugene Lowell, Helen Rogers, Addie Giles, Elvira Pratt and Helen Chapman all took part in the drama and the parts were well presented. The juvenile parts were taken by Harold Merrill and Mildred Parlin. Between the acts there was a duet by Miss Marie Newton and Doris Culbert, and a song by Miss Verna Howe. Shaw's Orchestra furnished music.

DEATH OF MRS. GEORGIA S. BLANCHARD.

Mrs. Georgia S. Blanchard passed away April 18th, at her home at Woodford after a long illness. Mrs. Blanchard was born in Industry, Dec. 1, 1837, the daughter of Daniel C. Luce and Lucy Luce. She was one of a family of eight children, namely, Mrs. Elsie Green of Bangor, deceased; John Luce, who died in the civil war; Alfred Luce of Brockton, Mass.; Henry Luce of Dixfield; Leavitt Luce of Auburn; Mrs. Clara Butterfield of East Auburn and John T. Luce of Farmington.

Mrs. Blanchard was a school teacher when young and while teaching at Dixfield, met and married Clifford Newman. From this union six children were born, all of whom survive her—Henry S. Newman, of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, Can.; Arthur L. Newman of Auburn; Horace D. Newman; Harold C. Newman; Mrs. Florence E. Jordan and Mrs. Lucy L. Records, all of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Newman lived at Dixfield village several years and in 1884 moved to a farm in Dixfield above Canton Point, where Mr. Newman passed away. Some years later she married Wm. Warren Blanchard of East Dixfield and they had three children, who survive her, Ralph William; Beatrice Amanda; and Ruth May, all at Bethel.

Ten years ago last fall Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard and family moved to Canton, where, in 1907, Mr. Blanchard passed away. For the past year and a half Mrs. Blanchard and children have lived in Portland. Seven grandchildren all survive her. The funeral was held Thursday at the home, Rev. E. H. Tuttle of the Woodford Congregational church officiating. There was a choice procession of beautiful floral tributes, among them a basket of flowers from Pocomah Rebekah Lodge of Canton, of which she was a worthy member, and carnations from Columbia Rebekah Lodge of Woodford.

Mrs. Blanchard had a wide circle of friends in Canton and Dixfield and elsewhere, who deeply sympathize with the family in their bereavement.

Me. one of the 40 acres for only $700, number of 127 acres, stock and land included, all ready for spring planting, for only $11,000, page 15, Street's New Mammoth Farm Catalogue No. 31, just out, very free.

STROUT, Kent's Hill, Maine. Fifteen members of the Casagnewa tribe of Indians who are to attend the coronation of King George and Queen Mary in June, passed through Portland, from Orono Saturday morning. While the Indians attracted much attention they were dressed like white men, one youngster even having three sets of teeth on the bottom of his mouth. Thomas Best Pass, one of the most prominent folk in the party, was in England half a dozen years ago and gave exhibitions there, so he will be of some assistance to his companions.

BASE BALL.

Gould's Wins from Mechanic Falls and Loses to So. Paris.

GOULD'S VS. MECHANIC FALLS. On Wednesday, April 19, the base ball team of Gould's Academy met and defeated the Mechanic Falls High School team at Mechanic Falls. Gould's put up a strong game considering it was their first game of the season and that they had had only a week's practice. The pitchers were in fine condition. Only two hits were got off Russell. In 7 innings while Lawler held them hitless in the last two, striking out three men.

At the end of the seventh Brown and Conroy were substituted for Foster and Hutchins. Gould's did some good team work, pulling off three double plays and making but two errors. Smith and Amo were the heavy hitters, each getting three hits, two of Smith's going for extra bases.

For Mechanic Falls, Lord and Rankin were the only men who could get a hit.

SOUTH PARIS H. A. 3; GOULD'S 2. South Paris High defeated Gould's Academy in a pitchers battle Saturday April 22nd, at South Paris. The final score was 3 to 2. Lawler did good work, striking out twelve men but on a costly error and reckless base running on the part of Gould's, the count was given to Rowe. Barlett of South Paris started in left field, making four base catches.

The features for Gould's were a base running catch by Russell and Rankin, telling throw to the plate. The score:

AUTOMOBILE SHOW AT RUMFORD.

On Tuesday, J. E. Stephens opened his automobile show of Maxwell and Ren cars, his salesroom was filled with these cars and Mr. Britton, a young man who has been with Mr. Stephens during the season was there to demonstrate both cars and give prospective buyers rides in the different machines. Mr. H. L. Elliott also assisted in demonstrating the Maxwell cars.

The garage was tastefully decorated in purple and white fleur-de-lis and each machine seemed to outshine the other in appearance as they had been polished to a fine appearance. In the evening the place was filled to its utmost, the Rumford Band officiating and rendering an excellent order of music.

RUMFORD COURT NEWS.

On Monday Deputy Sheriff Small had Dan McDougall up in court for $100.00 and depositing. Mr. Small got the $100.00 from Jesse Barker's finger after $100.00 had been left in Mr. Barker's yard. The case after having been heard by the judge was put over for a few days until the judge could decide whether the liquor was seized in transportation or whether it was delivered. The judge said that there was no doubt $100.00 on his mind but that the liquor was $100.00 and that he had it for sale but it was a question whether it was in transportation or not. Wm. Weston was up for intoxication and was fined three dollars and costs which failing to pay he was taken to the jail Tuesday morning. On Wednesday morning Deputy Niles had two cases of intoxication in court, the first of Andy White and Joe Hubbard. The judge found them both guilty and $5.00 each and was discharged, but Hubbard decided to go to Paris for thirty days.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

Sixteen convictions for intoxication were received Wednesday in the Portland municipal court. The Portland papers report a large increase in the number of intoxicated persons seen on the street.

The shipment of cattle from Portland for England on the trans-Atlantic steamer this winter has shown the same falling off that has been noticed for several years. The total number of cattle shipped this season has been 11,410, in addition to 17,000 sheep. The big stock going out Saturday on the Dominion liner Washburn for Liverpool and Belfast being included in the count. During the same month in the season of 1909 there were exported 14,787 head of cattle, but no sheep. Mr. F. W. Huntington, the government cattle inspector, in speaking of the shipments said that the year 1901 was the heaviest year in the business at this port, over 162,000 head of live stock having been shipped.

Monroe Carr of Bangorville was 101 years old Saturday. Mr. Carr is still in good condition physically and was fully, and takes as much interest in affairs of the day as he ever did. He goes to the village once two or three times a week and is remarkably active about the house. He was born in Vienna April 23, 1810.

A Maine cattle shipment has just been made to Switzerland.

NEWBURY.

MAINE.

COUNTLESS MILLIONS
of dollars are being follow on neglected farm lands of New England. This, the richest agricultural section of the United States, is virtually neglected by man's hands. Land in this section is not a fraction of the price that it would fetch for the farmer's use.

Thousands of acres are idle, or practically so, which might be fertile producers of crops which would annually create millions of dollars to be invested and added to the income of New England, and so benefit all classes of New Englanders—city dwellers as well as those on farms. This money is going to a steady, golden stream into the pockets of those elsewhere, who are taking advantage of these favorable conditions.

While the day of the abandoned farm, as Massachusetts and all New England know it twenty years, or even ten years ago, has practically passed, there are still abandoned farms. There are also many more farms—hundreds upon hundreds of them—which might as well be counted as abandoned, for the results obtained from them are in no wise commensurate with their potentialities.

It is true in a remarkable degree that those farmers who are making satisfactory returns are most favorably the ones who have made the most careful study of their soil, its needs and possibilities. And supplemented this fertility by adding to it whatever it may have lacked, by the addition of especially prepared commercial fertilizers.

A large proportion of New England agriculturalists are ignorant of the NEW ENGLAND ANIMAL FERTILIZER, which is prepared on scientific basis and is the result of the most careful study of the soil and the proper application of the right fertilizers. New England farming can be made to pay and to pay well. Any of our readers who will write the NEW ENGLAND FERTILIZER CO., BOSTON, MASS., for a copy of their booklet book of valuable crop data will be amply repaid.

The social at Garland chapel which was held last Thursday evening, was greatly enjoyed by both old and young. A short program was presented which consisted of vocal and instrumental music and a reading. Games were played after which all gathered around the piano and sang college songs.

The old fashioned "bug bee" is coming into style again and the first one held in this vicinity was recently given by Mrs. Sydney Jodrey, at her home on Church street. Friends were invited to come in the afternoon and help to "hook the rug" and at supper time the gentlemen came to partake of a most appetizing repast, making a party of fourteen. The evening was spent with music and a social time, a dainty lunch of punch, crackers and small cakes being served. The result was "many hands made light work" and a pleasant afternoon and evening was spent.

Have "Good Luck" Each Baking Day

For "luck" lies mostly in the flour. The wise cook uses William Tell and knows her bread will be perfection—her cake a marvel of delicate lightness—her pastry tender and flaky.

William Tell Flour is made from Ohio Red Winter Wheat—which has no equal. There is only a limited supply—enough to go around among the housewives who have learned the value of perfect flour.

THURSDAY, APRIL 27, 1911.

One of the touching scenes of an immigration office, that has recently been brought to our attention, was that of a Russian girl of 14 and her aged father who had arrived on a trans-Atlantic steamer. Two sons had preceded the father and sister in coming to America and had a home ready for them. It was discovered that the old man was a sufferer from tuberculosis, which has him from entering this country. When the vessel was made known to the port she refused to be comforted, but told the officials she would not be separated from her father, although the old man and boys both urged her to stay. Standing to the rail of the steamer she waved farewell to her brothers and came up the stairs of a new life in a new country to care for her aged father.

CARNEGIE HERO FUND.

There has recently been issued a report of the Carnegie Hero Fund commission. It will be remembered that the fund was established April 15, 1904. Mr. Carnegie gave $1,000,000 in five per cent. bonds to be used as directed in the deed of trust. An income of $50,000 a year would be afforded or a million in four years. The fund of the Carnegie technical school in connection with the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh.

There are bronze, silver and gold medals and money and the awarding surplus may be devoted to those in want through great distress. One hundred thousand dollars of the fund is set aside for the use of the Carnegie technical school in connection with the Carnegie Institute at Pittsburgh.

The total of pecuniary awards during the nearly seven years amounts to $600,000. The medal awards number 432, including 244 bronze, 193 silver and 13 gold. The amount of $77,523 is given annually to the dependents of heroes. The first Maine case, Newton J. Gilman, a student saved Joseph B. Marwick from drowning at Old Orchard in the summer of 1909, and was awarded a silver medal and $2,500 for educational purposes.

In the second case, Lincoln J. Partridge was killed in attempting to rescue George H. Tarr from danger in a saw mill in Bristol, Me. in November 1907. It is recorded that Partridge reached over a saw reaching 1500 revolutions a minute, in response to a call from Tarr, whose clothing had caught in a belt wheel. He fell on the saw and sustained fatal injuries, while Tarr escaped. A pension of $50 a month for life or until she marries was awarded the widow, with $5 a month additional for each of two children until they reach the age of sixteen.

Many of the heroes were sailors, many seamen and some were Indians which shows that heroism is not confined to any race or color, and we are but grateful for this fact that is doing so much good in the world.

DIXFIELD ITEMS.

The Happenings of the Week as gathered by the Citizen Reporter.

The remains of Georgia Blanchard, whose death occurred Tuesday, April 18, at her home at Woodford, were brought here for burial Thursday on the 5 o'clock train. Mrs. Blanchard was the daughter of the late Daniel C. Love of Industry, who was one of the early settlers of that place, and a descendant of the Congregational church at Allen's Mills for many years. Mrs. Blanchard's first husband was Clifford Newcomb, a former resident of this town. His children were born to this union, all of whom are living. Her second husband was the late Rev. Wm. Blanchard of Canton, where Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard resided for several years. Three children were born to this union, who are living, also four brothers, Field, Lucie of Brockton, Mass., Lemuel, of Auburn, John, of Farmington, and Henry, Lucie of this village, who is a sister. Mrs. Blanchard was in feeble health for three years, suffering greatly of a cancer. She was a highly respected woman, a kind and affectionate mother, and will be greatly missed by her many friends. The funeral services were held at her home at Woodford, Thursday. Her four sons, Arthur, Horace and Harold Newcomb, and Ralph Blanchard, all of Portland, accompanied the casket to the place of burial which was in the family lot at Riverside cemetery in Dixfield. She was 51 years of age.

A very able and helpful discourse was given Sunday morning at the Universalist church by the pastor, Rev. W. E. Perkins, subject, "Why I Believe in Jesus Christ." The Easter music was repeated, which was well rendered by the choros of young ladies, and highly appreciated.

Why Mindes Don't Go Mad.

Why are there so few lunatic asylums and so small a proportion of insane persons in India? That is a question which many a traveler has wonderedingly asked. The Hindoos regulate their lives entirely in accordance with their religion—that is, their working, eating, sleeping, as well as what we usually regard as our "life." Everything is arranged for them, and they follow the rules now just as they did 2,000 years ago. This constant observance of the same rules for twenty centuries has molded the brains of the race into one shape, as it were, and, although the rules are queer enough, yet there is but an occasional example of that striking deviation from the common which is called insanity in countries inhabited by the white race. They are fatalists too. "What is to be will be" carried to the extreme. This has in time given them the power to take all things calmly and so freed them from the anxiety that drives so many white men into the lunatic asylums.

Thought It Was the Monkey's.

A diamond necklace was possessed by Mrs. G. St. Hilaire, the wife of the famous French naturalist. It was one of the chiefest of her "conquests" as Hindoo women apply terms to their jewels. One day Madame missed her necklace. There was a terrible turmoil in the house, and all the servants down to the foolish fat scullion were suspected, but in turn proved their innocence. At last it was remembered that M. de St. Hilaire had a pet monkey, and on a search being made in the "jolly hole" of the quadrangle the precious bauble was discovered hidden away with a white satin shoe, several cigar ends, a pencil case and a de-composed apple. The renowned naturalist calmly observed that he had frequently seen the monkey playing with the necklace. "Why did you not take it from him?" indignantly asked his spouse. "I thought it belonged to him," replied M. de St. Hilaire. He evidently thought there was nothing unnatural in an ape possessing a diamond necklace as his personal property.

The Monasteries of Tibet.

Every Tibetan family is compelled to have its children male child to a monastic life. Soon after his birth the child is taken to a Buddhist monastery to be brought up and trained in the mysteries. At about the age of eight he joins one of the caravans which travel to Lassa. There he is attached to one of the local monasteries, where he remains as a novice until he is fifteen, learning to read the sacred books and perform the religious duties of his faith. The Tibetan son, being thus sent into the church, as we should say in this country, the second becomes the head of the family and marries. Unlike some other semi-civilized races, these young Tibetans have the right of choosing their own wives. Nor can a Tibetan girl be married off by her parents without her own consent. The curious custom in regard to the eldest sons results of course, in nearly every Tibetan family acquiring the odor of sanctity, numbering a monk among its members—London Telegraph.

How Not Inevitably Justice.

In October, 1900, Pietro Giacomini and Marie Bonelli were tried at Rome on a charge of attempted murder by poisoning committed thirty-one years before. In England Burgess Aram was hanged for the murder of Charles fourteen years after the offense. A man named Horne was executed for the murder of his child in the eighteenth century so less than thirty-five years after the offense. There is also the well known case of Thomas Wall, who was executed in 1902 for a murder committed in 1795. Horward was hanged at Norwich for the murder of his wife after a lapse of twenty years. But Mr. Fitzjames Stephen reveals what is the most remarkable case of all. He prosecuted as counsel for the crown in 1908 a man who was charged with stealing a loaf from a parish register sixty years before—that is, in 1808. In this case the prisoner was acquitted—London Standard.

Prohibited Coffee Houses.

So many coffee houses opening into churches in England during the reign of Charles II, that he, entertaining a belief that many political intrigues had their beginning in these places, issued an edict ordering them to be closed. In this proclamation the following words occurred: "The roasting of coffee or the might be an innocent trade, but it was said to be a great evil, spread sin and scandalous great sin. It might also be a common nuisance."

Consented.

Phyllis—Harry is the sweetest creature I ever met. Mabel—What native you think of Phyllis?—Why, he first said that I am the sweetest creature in the world, the most beautiful, intelligent and in every respect a person, and then he wants me to marry him!

Life.

It has been said that life is made up of three things—honesty, environment and the will. If the honesty and environment of the child are what they should be the will will choose the right and do it.

Caution! Help It.

Mr. Briggs—You must think me a damned fool. Mrs. Briggs—No, I don't think anybody ever blamed me—Boston Transcript.

WORMS

Unsuspected worms are the cause of numerous little things that go wrong with children. When a child is sick you rarely think that its sickness is caused by worms, yet worms, either directly or indirectly, are the cause of three-quarters of all the ills of childhood. Children, and oftentimes adults, feel out-of-order, are irritable, feel nervous and unrefreshed in the morning, suffer with indigestion, have a variable appetite, feel nervous, offensive breath, hard and full belly, with occasional gripings and pains about the navel; eyes heavy and dull; itching of the nose; short, dry, coughing of the throat; slow fever; and often, in children, convulsions—in the majority of cases the cause of all the trouble is worms, though you may not suspect their presence.

DR. TRUE'S ELIXIR

A pure vegetable compound, has been the standard household remedy since 1871. It never fails to expel not only worms but all waste matter, leaving the blood rich and pure, the stomach sweet, the bowels regular and the whole system strong and healthy. The mother who gives her children Dr. True's Elixir regularly is wise, because it not only increases the appetite and acts as a preventive of coughs, cold, fever and worms, but gives rugged, robust health. Sold by all druggists. Price 25c. per bottle. Write for free booklet, "Children and their Diseases."

THE SHORT COAT.

The short coat, so many of which are in the box style, is one of the most popular of this season's models, and the length thirty inches to the knee is the most recent. The model shown is given to the customer. The long lines these short coats and (such is the general effect) two or three in each front, a plain back and two side pockets, with the underarm curve, make up the garment. The short coat is a very handsome addition to the wardrobe of the modern woman. The short coat is a very handsome addition to the wardrobe of the modern woman. Back to the Oldtime Remedy for Dyspepsia.

You may experiment with many so-called wonderful new discoveries for the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver trouble, or Constipation—you may spend many hard earned dollars for the widely advertised pills, powders or tablets, and after trying them all you may find yourself practically no better than when you commenced. There is one safe, speedy, reliable, household remedy, which has been prepared and sold in Maine for more than sixty years, and which has given relief to thousands of sick and suffering persons—the true and original J. P. Atwood's Medicine or Bitters. Doubtless your mother or grandmother kept it always in the house ready for use in time of trouble, and you will be glad to get back to it after a series of disappointments. Get a bottle today, and be prepared to ward off sickness. Thirty-five cents at your corner "The J. P." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.

NORWAY.

Miss Frances B. Adams, the evangelist, finished her work of holding meetings at the Methodist church, Tuesday evening.

After being empty for several months the Elm House has been leased by Fred L. Harriman and will be opened in about two weeks. This was sold through the Dunlap Pike Agency.

A part of the furniture has arrived for the Municipal Court room but has not been put in place. A. J. Stearns, Esq., will have an office in this block and Treasurer Whitman of the Norway Water Company will have an office here.

O. P. Brooks, the meat man, has purchased an automobile of A. W. Walker, to be used in connection with his meat business.

The Prince Store owned and operated by the Messrs S. B. and Z. L. Prince has been sold to New Hampshire parties who will take possession August first next. This is one of the oldest firms in the village.

The hall game Saturday, Norway H. S. defeated Mechanic Falls H. S. by the score of 10 to 4.

W. H. Eastman of Sumner, one of the county commissioners, was in So. Paris Tuesday. A meeting of the commissioners will be held next week at South Paris.

Quite an epidemic of measles and mumps is prevalent in Norway.

Forry Walker, Herbert Wood and E. T. Smith went to Lewiston by auto Tuesday.

Next Sunday being "Tuberculosis Sunday" an appropriate sermon will be preached by Rev. Mr. Ward at the Universalist church. In the evening at seven o'clock he will speak on the Revised version of the Bible.

It is expected that the next district meeting of the L. O. G. T. will be with Norway lodge in an all day session on the third Wednesday in May.

Dr. H. P. Bradbury returned Friday night from San Antonio, Texas where he has been attending the maneuvers of the army in his capacity as Major.

He was on the arrival assigned with a regular army surgeon and they did the regular work as it would be necessary in the time of actual warfare. He says that the hospital work is far ahead of anything that has been done in army work before. The sanitation is almost perfect. And the lines reported is almost nothing. There is not so much among the soldiers now as there is among a company of 10,000 men in their regular occupations at home. Each man who has not had typhoid fever within three or four years is vaccinated against typhoid contagion. The doctor says there could not be under present excellent conditions any such outbreak of fever as was at Chickamauga in 1863.

The doctor was especially interested in the sham battles. Here the men do actual work with ball cartridges. Dummies are set up in the trenches and the maneuvers are the same as in actual service. He had an opportunity from an ambulance to witness the firing as he is particularly interested in shooting, and he says the men do remarkably well.

QUALITY

ONE of our most important slogans is "quality." Every piece of goods we offer for sale must be of absolute dependability. We believe that in the upbuilding of a business this is the only safe and sane method of procedure. Perfect goods at all times is our motto. The temptation of "seconds" at an alluring price is frequently held out to us, but we pass all such propositions by—we consider them dangerous. "Seconds," no matter how slight the imperfections may be, are nevertheless "seconds" and are apt to give disappointment to those who buy them—this chance we cannot afford to take—goods bought at our store must be perfect, they must measure up to our standard of "quality" or they cannot find a place here.

BUT please remember that "quality" does not necessarily mean a higher price, on the contrary the least expensive lines in our store possess "quality" in full proportion to their cost. There are many grades of Stockings, for instance, which retail at 25c pair; some of them possess "quality," many of them do not. The difference between a good Stocking at 25c and a poor one at the same price is just the difference in profit between the one grade as compared with the other. We buy and sell the best grades, even at a reduced profit, because we want the "quality" which brings our customers back to us again and again. Now, as it is in Stockings, so it is in every other line of goods sold in our store, from a paper of pins to a carpet size rug—the most "quality" procurable at the price quoted.
